Filtration through such parchment paper is not possible, but diffusion is, i.e. when different substances are present in the same solution, all these do not pass through it in proportional quantities, but some pass through more quickly than others. Cellulose dissolves entirely without decomposition in ammoniacal copper oxide solution, from which it is again precipitated by acids and salts as an amorphous powder. When cellulose is treated with a mixture of nitric and sulphuric acids, nitric acid esters are formed, the hydroxyl groups of the cellulose combining with the nitric acid, with elimination of water, in the same way as in the formation of nitroglycerine (p. 96); these nitric acid esters of cellulose are also explosive compounds. According to the concentration of the acids and the duration of their 1 This must not be confounded with the pathological amyloid degeneration of tissues, which gives a similar iodine reaction; nothing more is known about this substance, except that it contains nitrogen.
